

COVID VACCINES FROM A SPIRITUAL PERSPECTIVE

Consequences for the Soul and Spirit and for Life after Death

Thomas Mayer

Vaccination is a topic that has long divided opinion. Today, in view of Covid-19, that debate has become ever more polarized.

Illustrated throughout with full-colour images, Covid Vaccines from a Spiritual Perspective deals with scientific facts, but also with research that requires spiritual-scientific methods. Led by main author and activist Thomas Mayer, the volume features reports, experiences and commentary from more than fifty contributors with clairvoyant and psychic abilities. From their observations, it is argued that Covid vaccines are not ‘harmless jabs’, but potentially violent interventions in the subtle structures of the human body, soul and spirit. The vaccines even have implications for an individual’s life beyond death. Instead of the soul evolving in the afterlife, it could remain bound to the earth and suffer deeply.

Although this book’s conclusions may appear alarming, it is not the author’s intention to create fear. He seeks only to provide useful information and enlightenment, demonstrating how vaccinated and unvaccinated people can deal with this subject consciously, courageously and with hope for the future.

Basic Considerations

This book deals with the question of how covid vaccinations can affect the supersensible members of the human beings and life after death.

These questions are examined on the basis of empirical supersensible perceptions.

In order to obtain the broadest possible basis for this, I contacted more than 50 people with supersensible perceptions and collected reports.

These are very subtle perceptions that can be easily overlooked. They are often hardly noticeable in everyday life. But the phenomena described were found again and again in concentrated supersensible research.

The expression “subtle” does not say anything about the content of the perceptions, but refers to the subtle nature of the perception process. In this enhancement of the capacity of perception one can then encounter “beautiful” or “ugly” beings and spiritual events that will be described in appropriate terms.

Finding words for supernatural perceptions is not easy, as the words actually necessary for this do not exist. That is why it is often necessary to make use of analogies to the physical world. When, for example, “holes in the aura” are spoken of, no sensually visible holes are being referred to, but regions of the soul that are not penetrated by the ‘I’ and into which alien feelings and beings can therefore enter and establish themselves. The reverse can also take place through the “hole”, in that soul-spiritual and etheric power is lost.

The information contained in this book differs from that in other publications on the subject. I write about the spiritual domains in which I specialize. I cite other research only selectively in order to shed light on the results.

I try to make my descriptions as vivid as possible using excerpts from the research protocols as well as numerous reports of actual experiences. I also looked for statements by other authors that had already been published. Important questions are discussed and the background is explored as thoroughly as possible.

It turns out that the four most significant covid vaccines in Western countries taken together represent a strong attack on the physical as well as the energy body. As a result, the human soul and spirit can be prevented from gaining access to these bodies. The angel and the body elemental can also be pushed away. This can lead to the person remaining bound to the earth after death and a very prolonged suffering for the deceased.

Of course, the effect varies from person to person. There are people out there who are able to transform these vaccine side effects to a large extent and get rid of them.

I am describing this conclusion of the book right at the beginning so that I can make it clear from the outset that unanswered questions remain:

- How many people experience such effects? That also seems to depend on the mental and spiritual capacities a person can bring to the vaccination.
- To what extent are the psychological and spiritual effects of vaccinations processed naturally over time?
- How severe are the consequences for future incarnations?
- By which therapeutic measures can such processing be supported?

It is important to me to emphasize that this is not about ideology, but about empirical perception and the search for truth. Science and spiritual research are always an open process of the search for truth. Personal preferences should not come into it. It should not be governed by personal preferences.

For reasons of confidentiality, all names in the client descriptions have been changed. That is normal. However, it is not normal for all authors to be named using pseudonyms. I know them personally, but they do not want to be the target of a defamation campaign. Many have regular professions and do not want to lose their jobs. Unfortunately, such fears are well founded today; we are familiar with many cases of sanctions and dismissals due to nonconformist views. Standards of democratic culture, information/disclosure and freedom of expression that were previously believed to be safe can no longer be relied upon. Large sections of politics and the media are campaigning against dissenting views in the style of a religious war. The mood in society has been severely poisoned by the advocates of lockdowns and vaccinations. Anthroposophy and naturopathy are preferred targets. Unfortunately, some professional associations and employers cave in to this pressure instead of standing up for a free cultural life. The smear campaigns also hit many respected scientists who dare to publish “inappropriate” research results.

This totalitarian social change is devastating for a free democracy. It was also demonstrated in a survey by the Allensbach Institute for Demoscopy:¹ “In June 2021, just 45 percent said you could speak your mind freely. (...) From the 1960s to the last decade, more than two thirds of those questioned regularly took this view, but the answers have changed dramatically since then”, wrote Allensbach. Actually, with such an erosion of democracy there should be an outcry in politics, media, parties and associations – but this is not happening; the channeling of the social discourse is obviously intended.

I had to accept this bitter reality. Only an anonymization of the authors creates the necessary protection to enable publication. Which forces are at work here spiritually behind the scenes will become clearer in the course of this book.

One of the difficulties in writing this book was striking the right note. The subject is emotionally poisoned and permeated by fear. Our findings are surprising to many. The point is not to arouse negative emotions, but to present research results in a matter-of-fact and comprehensible manner and to indicate ways out of the impasse. However, ways out can only be found through understanding, therefore there is no getting around the need to look at the vaccines and their effects in detail, even if the descriptions are unpleasant.

We are not dealing here with a “harmless prick”, but rather with a powerful impulse to change the human body, so that it is hindered in its function as the vehicle for the soul-spiritual human being. This can also have a blocking effect on life after death. This means that the fundamental question concerning the future of humanity is at stake: Do we want to become a kind of “machine-man” or do we want to remain beings of soul and spirit?

So, it is clear to me that this book will present a challenge to some readers and that there is a risk that they will fall into a mood of doom and gloom. I therefore endeavored to penetrate every written line with an attitude of sober, loving serenity.

The situation is by no means hopeless. Time and again I have experienced that high spiritual beings looked upon the corona crisis and the vaccinations with calm and confidence. It is a test from which much good can come in the long run, even if it seems overwhelming for most people today. It is possible to grow spiritually through the covid vaccinations if you take on this challenge actively. This applies equally to the unvaccinated and to the vaccinated.

My booklet Overcoming Fear - Exercises for Spiritual Self-Defense serves as an aid to inner balance. In it, many aspects of the individual handling of the corona crisis are described and a spiritual-scientific classification is given. I recommend it as a supplement to this book.

Supersensible Observations of the Vaccinated

The adverse bodily effects of covid vaccinations are only the tip of the iceberg. Behind the surface, outwardly invisible, are the supersensible members of the human being. The following reports of research and observation show that the covid vaccinations can have powerful disturbing effects on these supersensible members.

Of course, these vary from individual to individual. Often one cannot tell that a person has been vaccinated – they may have been able to overcome the disturbing supersensible effects. However, the following descriptions deal with cases where damaging effects were observed. Even if attention is focused on these, that does not mean that it invariably occurs. Each individual case must be observed afresh. I point this out in order to forestall generalizations. The aim is to sharpen attention and the power of observation.

I begin with descriptions of therapists who engage with the patients' etheric body.

“Since the vaccination a great sadness always seems to descend on my hands.”

Rhythmical Embrocations (Einreibungen) support coherence on the physical, spiritual and soul levels. During the embrocation, the hands move rhythmically across the body, often in a circular motion, to relieve bodily and psychological tensions and blockages. Natural oils and ointments are applied. Rhythmical Embrocations were developed by Dr. Ita Wegman and Dr. Margarethe Hauschka. A therapist from Lower Saxony submitted the following report in April 2021:

“In the institution where I work, almost all residents have now been vaccinated with Moderna. This has significantly affected my work with Rhythmical Embrocations. If I prepare myself intensively, I can allow the stream of love to flow. Especially over the back area of the body, the way it is absorbed reveals a great need. Sometimes, however, I experience a sudden sadness, more around me than in me. Or I become aware of a subtle sense of rejection.

Frequently, I experienced the following: As I massage the ankles, I turn to the angelic world in my back space and try to let the impulses for my actions be inspired from this realm. In the past, during the renewed immersion, a force would flow through me to the patient. Since the inoculation a great sadness always seems to descend on my hands.

Once, during treatment, I experienced a very strong blockage in the legs, as if I were being pushed away; later on, a kind of stickiness, as if I were being sucked into a swamp.

In the past, I often felt refreshed, as if immersed in a common etheric space with the person I was treating. Now I feel completely alone, unable to establish contact with their angel and their healing beings.

When the patient is resting afterwards and I am sitting quietly, I often experience a strong pressure, a tightness around my head. After the treatments I am often exhausted, and I strengthen myself, for example, with eurythmic exercises "I A O" or nature observations in the garden.

The people in need of help are unable to identify any changes in their experience."

Other therapists had similar experiences. One osteopath told me that she experienced a cool etheric current flowing away from the navel in some vaccinated patients. Where the flow went was not clear to her.

I received the following report from a eurythmy therapist:

"In therapeutic eurythmy, I have observed that vaccinated patients appear 'dense', 'dull', and as if 'enclosed' within themselves. The experience of the eurythmic gesture of a sound on the etheric-soul level, previously felt very deeply, is hardly attainable any longer. It is shattering! Patients who have been coming for many years, and for whom eurythmy therapy has always been a definite help, suddenly can no longer feel anything!”

I have not experienced anything like this in any treatment in the last 20 years.

A rhythmical massage and cranio-sacral therapist from Baden-Württemberg wrote in May 2021:

“I have been working as a rhythmical masseuse since the 80s and as a cranio-sacral therapist for about 20 years. During the many years of my therapeutic work, I have treated many diverse issues in both adults and children. During cranio-sacral treatment, which involves taking the client’s feet or head in one’s hands, a well-trained therapist with sensitive hands can perceive changes within the bodily structure. During such treatments I can perceive very specific pain points and blockages in the whole body of the client. I can also perceive the condition of various organs of the client. One of the basic skills of cranio-sacral therapists is the perception of cranio-sacral rhythms.

Since the beginning of the covid vaccination campaign in Germany, I have treated two vaccinated clients. My experience with these, both vaccinated with mRNA vaccines, was new to me and initially frightening.

In five craniosacral treatments performed so far, I had the recurring impression of holding a completely hollow, empty head between my hands. The etheric brain and the pineal gland felt as if ‘dried up and shriveled’. Also, the cranio-sacral rhythm normally perceptible on the surface was not detectible. In more than 20 years of experience, I have never had such experiences with any of my other clients.”
